

DePaul welcomes new board members

May 1, 2015 0

DePaul welcomed three new board members to the Adult Care Board of Directors in mid-April – Dave DeLary, Gerald Scott and Megan Rogers.

A graduate of St. John Fisher College's Ronald L. Bittner School of Business, Dave DeLary is a Buyer for the Zeller Corporation where he works with nearly 100 suppliers, domestic and international, and is responsible for procuring production and distribution materials for five facilities. Previous to working with the Zeller Corporation, DeLary served as Quality and Continuous Improvement Manager at Norampac Industries.

Gerald Scott has spent 34 years assisting non-profit corporations with selection, development, construction, funding and operation of hundreds of programs which provide services to individuals with disabilities. He received his undergraduate from the State University of New York at Geneseo and a Master's in Public Policy and Administration from the University of Buffalo. He is retired from the New York State Office of Mental Health

A School Psychologist at Oakfield-Alabama Central School District and Case Manager with the Rochester Institute of Technology's (RIT) Spectrum Support Program, Megan Rogers attended undergrad school at St. Bonaventure University and completed her Master's in School Psychology from RIT. Rogers is a member of the Committee on Special Education Schools and a special education consultant to teachers and support staff at Oakfield-Alabama as well as a member of the New York and National Associations of School Psychologists

DePaul is a progressive not-for-profit organization founded in 1958.
