Messenger Post Media

Dancers from Anastasia's Spotlight Dance of Churchville recently performed at Westwood Commons in North Chili with music by Diamond Jim.

The visit coincided with an appearance by the senior living community's own leprechaun – cook Joe Blasetti.

Celebrating its 15th anniversary this year, Anastasia's is a tradition at Westwood. Students ages 6-18 performed various dance styles for residents, including Irish, lyrical, jazz, ballet, musical theater, hip-hop and contemporary.

"Our students truly enjoy and look forward to performing at Westwood," instructor Amanda Ball said. "They feel it is a rewarding experience and a blessing to the residents.

Being a Christian setting, we strive to impact our community in a positive way. One of the many ways we achieve this is through our visits to Westwood Commons."
